This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

The following is copied from the manuscripts of Mrs. Katharine Guild, wife of Josiah Snell Copeland, from papers found after her death and burial.

To My Children:—Living remote from your natural ancestors and relations, and the time may come when you will wish to know something of your ancestors, and no one may be living to give you that knowledge which is now in my power to give you, partly from records and partly from memory of what my mother has taught me, she being very well versed in Genealogy. I don't suppose that at the present time you feel much interested in this document, but when "Hoar-frost, the winter of age," has whitened your locks like mine, the mind turns back upon the past, to the gleeful days of childhood, to the rose tinted hours of youth, to middle age the heat and burthen of the day. Then we gradually come to look back on the road we have traveled, we look beyond. We would know something of those who have preceded us. I do not believe there is any one living who does not feel the better for knowing that there is no stain on his family escutcheon which would call a blush on his own cheek, or his children's after him. I wish my children to know that their ancestry were worthy and respectable. I wish you to preserve this feebly written record, if not valued for any other reason, but because it was written by your mother in the 70th year of her age, with a weak and trembling hand, March 16, 1867.

(Signed) KATHARINE COPELAND

GENEALOGY GUILD

Guild is an honorable name. I have never known or heard of one bearing the name a drunkard, profane swearer, or convicted of a crime.

Samuel Guild, who is believed to be the founder of the Guild family in America, settled in Dedham, Mass. His name as one of the proprietors, is on the record there previous to 1647. My great grandfather, Nathaniel Guild, settled in Walpole, an adjoining town. He owned a furnace during the Revolution, and cast shot and shell for the Americans. He had a brother and a sister.

The sister married a Coney. Her son, Judge Coney, was among the early settlers of Augusta, Maine, and probably the founder of the Coney family there, one of whom was lately governor of Maine.

My grandfather married Mary Borden. They had four daughters and two sons.

Mollie married Amos Plympton and settled in Medfield.

Mercy married Ebenezer Hewins and lived in Sharon.

Susanna married Col. Morse of the Revolutionary army, lived in Sharon until the death of her husband, then went to reside with her children in Roxberry, where her numerous descendants still reside.

Mahetable lived single, and died at my father's Feb. 7, 1816.

Nathaniel, eldest son, married Rebecca Curtis. They had five sons and two daughters.

Nathaniel and Herman remained at the old homestead.

Samuel went to Roxberry, married a wealthy lady named Mears, was president of a bank and a millionaire.

James I know nothing of.

Chester lives in Boston, and has accumulated a large fortune in the leather business. His son, Curtis Guild, is proprietor of the Boston Commercial Bulletin.

Rebecca married Joseph Hartshorn.

Mary I know nothing of.

My grandfather died September 1796.

Samuel Guild, my father, studied medicine with Doctor Dagget, of Medfield. Settled in Easton in 1768. He practiced medicine 45 years. He was an assistant surgeon in the army of the Revolution, and when at home was one of the Committee of Safety, and slept nightly with two loaded muskets at the head of his bed. He raised a liberty pole at the corner of his home, which he was called on one night to defend from the Tories of his neighborhood. Their warm reception caused them to retire with the British army. In later years he was judge of the Court of Sessions in Bristol county, was a Justice of the Peace at the time of his death, and for 20 successive years previous. He died May 9, 1816, aged 70 years. In 1770 he married Elizabeth Furgeson for his first wife, a lady of Irish descent. The children of this marriage were:

Mary, born March 1772.

Samuel, born July 19th, 1774.

James, born April 17th, 1780.

Susannah, born October 29th, 1782, died 1783.

Elizabeth, born 1778.

His wife died August 20, 1784, at the birth of a son. A line on her tomb stone reads:

Her babe from harm
Sleeps on her arm.

On February 17, 1786, he married for his second wife Katharine Leonard (my mother), born 1757.

Their first child, Martin, born December 20, 1786, died March 20, 1801.

Katharine, second child, born November 4, 1788, and died June 14, 1791.

Nathaniel, born February 24, 1791.

Lusannah, born August 27, 1792.

Katharine (myself), born October 14, 1797.

My mother died January 6, 1837, in the 80th year of her age.

Mary married Calvin Brett. They had seven children, resided in Easton, and died there in 1844. But few of her children survived her.

Samuel was educated a physician, married Vesta Howard, of Easton, lived the last ten years of his life in Hartford county, Maryland, and died in 1821. Had no children.

Elizabeth married Church Williams, of Easton, went to Augusta, Maine. They had seven children. Three only lived to be 21 years of age. She died in 1863.

James Guild married Abby Copeland, (aunt of J. S. C.) She died in 1809 leaving three children.

Charlotte, the eldest, married George Barrell, of East Bridgewater.

Almira married Doctor Reynard Randall, of North Rehobeth, (she being his second wife).

Martin was 3 months old when his mother died. He married Nancy Bacon, of New Bedford. Both died young, leaving two orphan daughters, Helen and Abby.

Helen married ——— Tucker, of Stoughton.

Abby married David A. Carter, of Pittsburg, Pennsylvania.

James married for his second wife, widow Elizabeth Williams Edson. They had two sons and one daughter.

The sons died without issue.

Daughter Abby married John Curtis. They had one child living in Maine.

James died aged 73 years.

Nathaniel, (my brother,) married Harriett Perry, daughter of Doctor James Perry, of Easton. Their children are:

Harriett, who married Daniel B. Wheaton, of Easton.

HOWARD

John Howard came from England and settled in Bridgewater in 1643. Was one of the original proprietors of the town, (8 miles square.) He was a man of great influence. His son, Jonathan, had six sons, viz: Ebenezer, Joshua, Abiel, Henry, Jonathan and Seth.

Ebenezer (was my great grandfather) resided in Bridgewater. Born in 1700, and died 1786. He married Katharine Dean. They had two daughters.

Silence married Eliphalet Leonard (my grandfather.)

Mahetable married Libeas Fobes.

Joshua married Susannah Hayward, and had four daughters. Lived in Easton.

Thankful, the eldest, married William Brett. Her son Calvin, married my eldest sister, Mary Guild.

Melinda married Joshua Williams. Her son, Joshua, died in Easton in 1864, aged 95 years. His daughter, Matilda, married Sanford Howard.

Sarah married ——— Prentice, and went to Albany, N. Y. (Those celebrated Prentice farms near Albany are owned by her descendants.)

Dr. Abiel Howard, a graduate of Harvard College, married Silence, daughter of Nehemiah and Jane Washburn.

Their daughter Silence married Dr. Philip Bryant, of North Bridgewater, Mass. They had a large and talented family, some of whom were natural poets.

Their eldest son Dr. Peter Bryant married a daughter of Ebenezer Snell and settled in Cummington, Mass., where his son, William Cullen Bryant, the poet, was born November 3rd, 1794.

John Howard married Mercy Forbes and were the parents of Roland and Vesta Howard.

Roland is the father of Sanford Howard.

Vesta was the wife of my brother, Samuel Guild.

Henry married Mary Howard. His son Elijah married Keziah Hayward. (Grandfather and grandmother to J. S. Copeland.)

Her sister, Sophia, married General Benjamin Tupper, (one of the original pioneers that settled Marietta, Ohio, on the 7th of April, 1788—all males—their wives and children landed in Marietta, the last of July, same year, they having their log cabins to enter.

Doctor Lincoln Goodale, who died at Columbus, Ohio, on April 29, 1868, aged 87 years, was one of those children, then 7½ years old.

The sons of Benjamin and Sophia Tupper, of Galipolis, Col. Anselem and General Edward Tupper have honorable mention in the annals of Ohio, as also Doctor Leonard Goodale, who was a surgeon in General Hull's army at Detroit, when Hull surrendered his whole command.

Elijah and Keziah had three sons and five daughters. They lived in Easton.

Keziah married Adonijah White. Her numerous

HISTORY AND GENEALOGY

Richard Williams, (said to be a near relative of Cromwell) came from Glasmorganshire, Wales, in 1637. Became one of the original purchasers of Taunton, purchased of the Indians in 1637, his name being second on the list of purchasers. He married Frances Dighton, of Somersetshire, England. One of the several towns set off from Taunton purchased, was called Dighton, in her honor.

Katharine, her sister, married Governor Thomas Dudley, of Masschusetts. She was mother of General Joseph Dudley, and grandmother of Paul Dudley, Chief Justice of Massachusetts.

Elizabeth, the 7th child of Richard Williams, married John Bird, of Dorchester, Mass.

Their daughter, Katharine Bird, married Israel Dean, and their daughter, Katharine Dean, married Ebenezer Howard.

Their daughter Silence, married Eliphalet Leonard, of Easton.

Their daughter Katharine Leonard (my mother) married Doctor Samuel Guild, of Easton.

Their daughter, Katharine, married Josiah Snell Copeland.

Their daughter, Katharine Leonard, married Henry Clay Godman, (both natives of Ohio).

LEONARD

In the history of Massachusetts it is recorded that in 1652 James and Henry Leonard came from Wales, where they had extensive iron works, to Taunton, and built the first forge, and made the first iron made in America, in what is now called Raynham.

Henry removed to New Jersey.

James was the founder of the numerous Leonards in Taunton, Raynham, Norton, etc.

History says these Leonards claim descent from Leonard "Lord Dacre," one of the most distinguished families in the United Kingdom, in two lines from Edward the Third, the Duke of Lancaster, and Thomas Duke of Gloucester. About the close of the last century the last Lord Dacre died without children.

Notice was publicly given to the descendants of James Leonard, that they could claim title. A meeting of the Leonards was held, and decided that the Hon. Judge George Leonard, of Norton, might claim title, he being the 4th in regular descent from James. The Judge replied, he "would rather be Lord of broad acres in America, than Lord Dacres in England." He was then the Lord of numerous broad acres, and lived in the Old English style, with his park of deer, tenantry, mills, etc.

No one claiming the title and estate, it reverted to Lady Dacres and her sister, Mrs. Bowen, the wealthiest lady in the commonwealth. She died in 1850; Judge Leonard in 1819.

About 45 years since, the descendants of James Leonard were informed that the mortgages had been all paid and a large sum remained for claimants. An agent was sent to England, but finding the property in chancery, it was abandoned.

The old Leonard mansion in Raynham, built by James in 1670, was taken down 1844, it being then inhabited by some of the 6th generation.

Mrs. Abigail Leonard, who died 1844, aged 110 years, lived there.

Abigail Leonard was the wife of Zephaniah Leonard. He and his son, Horatio, were High Sheriff of Bristol county, 60 years in succession, being appointed by the Governor in 1808-9.

Josiah S. Copeland was a youth in this house. The family were Zephaniah and wife Abagail, Horatio, Zeph Jr., William and a daughter.

William Bain, deceased, of Marion, Ohio, and J. S. Copeland have conversed together about this house and iron works. Bain, when a youth, lived near them.

I have been unable to find any positive record of my great grandfather Leonard's paternity, but from the well known relationship of Thomas Cobb and our family, it is believed that he was the son of James Jr., and grandson of James Leonard, the founder of the family in America.

Cobb having married Lydia, daughter of James Leonard Jr.

David Cobb, her son, was a man of note; was Lieutenant Governor of Massachusetts.

His sister was the wife of Robert Treat Paine, one of the signers of the Declaration of American Independence, and Chief Justice of the state of Massachusetts.

His son R. T. Paine Jr., was author of the once popular song of "Adams and Liberty."

It was likewise well known that the Norton Leonards, (those living in Norton) descendants from Thomas, son of James, were relatives of our branch of the Leonard family.

In an old cemetery in Easton, is my great grandfather's resting place. The inscription on his grave stone is:

Sacred to The Memory of
CAPTAIN ELIPHALET LEONARD
Who died 1786, aged 85 years.

"He was so just, men put their trusts in him for years to come. We hope that God will him reward, now he has called him home."

By his side lies his wife.

Sacred to The Memory of
RUTH, WIFE OF CAPT. ELIPHALET LEONARD
Died April 11, 1786, aged 82 years.

"Here let her rest in precious dust, till God to glory call the just."

His son Eliphalet, married Silence Howard. They had two daughters and four sons, my mother the eldest.

Jonathan married Elizabeth Blackman, settled in Canton, Mass., and together with Adam Kinsley, (a descendant of Richard Williams,) who married his sister, Sarah Leonard, carried on for near half a century, those extensive iron works known throughout New England as Leonard & Kinsley's.

He was a self-educated man, remarkable for his intelligence and acquirements. His beautiful residence was the resort of the first literary men of Boston, as well as many others who claimed the hospitality so well known to be found there.

He had a large and talented family. None I believe are at present living.

His eldest daughter married Daniel Dana, and they settled in New Orleans, La., in 1812, and he was for a while mayor of the city.

During the latter part of my uncle's life, his eldest son returned from the Galena lead mines, and being shown a piece of rock dug up on his farm, his son said it was the cap of a lead or coal mine. It being on my uncle's farm, he quit all other business, and spent a fortune digging for lead. Some lead was found, but not enough to pay. This with other heavy losses during the war of 1812-15, reduced him to poverty. His daughter, Mrs. Dana, sent for them. My uncle and aunt, with one unmarried son and daughter, went to New Orleans.

My uncle went 40 miles from the city to avoid the cholera, and then died with it.

My aunt and her son, Mr. and Mrs. Dana, Miss Dana and Mrs. Flagg (my cousin,) and her four children lie buried there.

My uncle, Eliphalet, settled in Vermont. Don't know his heirs.

Asaph settled in Maine.

Alpheus settled in Americas, N. Y., was a physician. Had a son Henry, who many years since resided in the City of New York, as an attorney.

My mother died in Easton, January 7, 1837, in her 80th year.

My grandfather Leonard died in Canton, October 27, 1805, aged 75 years.

My aunt Kinsley died in her 45th year. She left six children.

Adam died many years since, and left a large family.

Sarah Kinsley married James Dunbar. She had two children, Mary and John.

Alfred, now deceased, married Ann Copeland, and has three children.

Leonard single.

Lyman married and has one son and one daughter.

Mira married Richard Hickson. She is now a widow with three children.

My aunt Kinsley was one of earth's angels. From my childhood I loved her, and held her in the highest reverence. Her mantle seems to have fallen on her daughter Sarah.

James Dunbar, of Canton, died April 19, 1867, aged 80 years.

Sarah his wife, died September 1st, 1867, aged 73 years.

Arthur Corwin Copeland, youngest son of Josiah Snell and Catharine Guild Copeland, was born at Zanesville, Ohio, on the 22nd day of December, 1841, and died at Rochester, Indiana, December 25, 1904.

At the age of two years he removed with his parents to Marion, Ohio, where he grew to manhood. Here he obtained a common school education and laid the foundation for the large fortune he afterward accumulated, first as school teacher, then telegraph operator, then as clerk. With the money saved from these sources he established the Rochester Bank, and for almost forty years he gave to this institution his undivided attention, gaining the confidence and respect of the entire community until "honest as old Cope" became a by-word in the county.

No call on him was ever made by one of his patrons too early in the morning or too late at night to get a cheerful and ready response, often arising from his bed at midnight and going to the bank to serve a customer. He was an indefatigable worker and never had any "banking hours."

As a token of the regard in which he was held by his townsmen he was twice elected to the state legislature, in which capacity he served the people of his county for four years.

He never married, and all his affections appeared to center in his immediate relatives, and while naturally suspicious of mankind in general he always felt that any person to whom he was related could do no wrong. As his fortune accumulated and grew under his fostering care, he always spoke and acted as though the entire estate was the property of his natural heirs and that he only held the same in trust for them and spoke of it as the family money, and while possessing a large estate, lived a very simple and frugal life, in hope that his property might be a blessing to his nieces and nephews when he should be called away. A few days before his death he asked the writer not to allow any great amount to be expended for his funeral, as it could do him no good and that it might better be used for the benefit of some of his relatives.

At his request his body was laid to rest in the family lot in the Marion, Ohio, cemetery, beside his father, mother, brothers and sister, who had preceded him "there to rest until the last trump shall sound," but his memory shall forever be held in kind remembrance by all to whom his virtues were known.
